

Copyright Statement

1. When accepting our offer to publish, the authors grant Metacritic Journal for Comparative Studies and Theory the right to publish, reproduce and communicate their work in whatever form the Editorial Board deems fit.
2. The author still retains copyright of their work and may publish or authorise others to publish the entire work or any part thereof. Articles can accordingly be translated or reprinted in another format such as a book, providing full reference is made to Metacritic Journal for Comparative Studies and Theory as the original place of publication.
3. Metacritic Journal for Comparative Studies and Theory has the sole right to determine publication and may make editorial changes of a non-substantive nature to the work without consulting the Author/s.

Malpractice and plagiarism

The journal has no tolerance for any violation of publication ethics and it will sanction any form of malpractice. The authors are expected to submit entirely original works and to give full acknowledgement of their sources and of previous work by other authors. Identification of plagiarism attempts will automatically lead to the rejection of manuscript and to permanent banning of the author from publication in the journal, as well as to official information of the institution where the author is affiliated and to public exposure of the malpractice.